Law and Policy (ICC) and Crowell & Moring LLP
Annual Conference 2012

Trends and Developments in Global Competition Law

crowell  moring

 Queen Mary
University of London

Overview

This conference offers a unique forum for exchanging ideas and discussing recent developments in competition law across the globe. It brings together leading figures in the field from around the world including judges, competition officials, academics, in-house counsel and private practitioners. The conference combines the policy perspective of the London-based Interdisciplinary Centre for Competition Law and Policy (ICC) with the real world experience of the international law firm of Crowell & Moring LLP.

Format and Content

This will be a one-day event, with four major areas of focus: international merger control; regulating market power in emerging economies; the relationship between competition law enforcement and innovation; and international cartel procedures. Our aim on this occasion is to bring to our audience a comprehensive update of recent developments related to these topics which will be presented in an analytical and thought-provoking way by a high-level panel of speakers from around the globe. All of the topics will be illustrated by practical examples drawn from recent cases taken from the EU, US and other competition law regimes.

The issues to be addressed are:

International merger control

- How to deal with technical dynamics in merger control
- The role of competitors in merger regulation
- Efficiencies as a meaningful defence in merger control

Regulating market power in emerging economies

- Different treatment of private and state-owned companies
- Relationship between foreign direct investment and competition enforcement

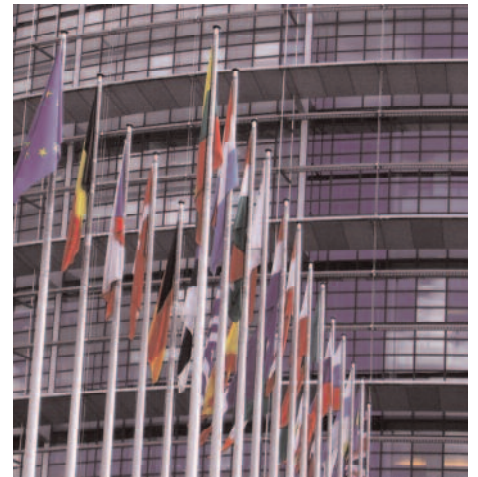

- Do exploitative practices deserve particular attention?
- The special case of vertical restraints

Is competition law enforcement hampering innovation?

- Access commitments in recent merger cases
- Contesting “hold-ups” in standard setting procedures: (F)RAND licensing and other means
- Trolls and other figures: competition law limitation for patents

International cartel procedures

- Striking the right balance between leniency and private enforcement:
 - Public policies and private interests: conflicts or complementarities?
 - Disclosures of information by competition authorities
 - Voluntary disclosure of corporate statements by leniency applicants
- Confidentiality in cartel proceedings
- EU cartel enforcement and fundamental rights
 - Access to effective remedies
 - An expanded role of Hearing Officers

The ICC and Crowell & Moring LLP

The Interdisciplinary Centre for Competition Law and Policy (ICC)

The Interdisciplinary Centre for Competition Law and Policy (ICC) is a centre of excellence led by Maher M. Dabbah that delivers world-class work in the field of competition law and policy. The ICC conducts research and offers training to judges, lawyers, business people and enforcement officials in the field of competition law.

The ICC's mission is to:

- Build a strong, broad-based and well-informed competition law community
- Engage in competition advocacy and internationally recognised scholarship
- Deliver innovative training and consultancy to meet the needs and expectations of lawyers, economists, policy-makers, competition enforcement bodies, judges and business people

The ICC offers internationally-recognised PhD and (taught and distance learning) LLM programmes in competition law and policy (in addition to a strong undergraduate option in EC and UK competition law) as well as an impressive programme of shorter courses including training courses and a highly successful annual summer school in competition law. Since its inauguration in 2006, the ICC has welcomed hundreds of participants to these courses in London; hundreds more (mainly judges, lawyers, economists and policy-makers from over 35 countries) have benefited from training given in different parts of the world.

Among the current major projects undertaken within the ICC is its Middle East Initiative, which was launched on 1 January 2009 and comes to develop competition law and policy in this important region of the world.

The ICC also publishes a high quality, refereed student journal, the ICC Global Antitrust Review (GAR).
